COMPLIANCE SUMMARY

Compliance Title: CMS - 2224 Applicability of Data Privacy Laws	Risk Assessment Medium	Severity Major	Pending Review
Compliance Description: The law bars unfair and deceptive acts and practices in or affecting commerce; this includes protecting consumers' private information. The business must comply with state and federal laws that protect consumers' private information by regulating the collection, use, disclosure and disposal of such information. The business must first determine what information requires protection under the law. The type of business conducted and where it conducts business must also be ascertained to determine which laws and regulations apply. In addition, the law requires all businesses to protect a minor's information.

Due for ReviewCompliance Description:

Identification and authentication processes can contribute to mutually beneficial interactions and the protection of privacy but only if they are appropriately designed. An organization needs enough information about an individual to authorize a legitimate transaction, but needs to ensure that it does not collect, use, retain or disclose personal information that is not necessary for that purpose. Requiring individuals to unnecessarily go through identification and/or authentication processes, or implementing overly cumbersome processes, can not only be privacy intrusive but can work against mutually beneficial interactions.
